

Diabetes Care. Published online January 16, 2026. doi:10.2337/dc25-2064

A Comparison of Diet and Exercise During Pregnancy in Women With and Without Type 1 Diabetes Followed in the Environmental Determinants of Islet Autoimmunity (ENDIA) Study

Dietary intake was suboptimal in pregnant women with and without type 1 diabetes. Diet and physical activity were mostly similar, however, there were modest differences. Further research is needed to optimize maternal nutrition during pregnancy.

